DESCRIPTION

A.24 Circular Stand Alone is an evolution of the A.24 system, retaining its outstanding performance and quality while offering enhanced versatility through its standalone configuration.

With its circular shape and essential design, it seamlessly adapts to any environment, becoming a distinctive element that provides uniform and enveloping light.

Designed to combine functionality and style, A.24 Circular Stand Alone maintains the luminous efficiency and innovative LED technology of the system version, while offering the freedom to be used as an independent product. It is perfect for both residential and professional spaces, where elegance and performance meet in a single solution.

Available in various finishes and sizes, it is the ideal choice for those seeking a design-forward lighting solution that integrates effortlessly into any context, while ensuring sustainability and high performance.

Ceiling roses and cables:

In the APP versions, the cable is always transparent. The ceiling rose, however, is white for the white version and black for all other color variants.

In the DALI versions, the cable matches the color of the ceiling rose: white for the white version (white ceiling rose with white cable) and black for all other variants (black ceiling rose with black cable).
