porcelain & home made in Italy

A LEGACY OF HANDCRAFTED BEAUTY, BORN IN ITALY IN 1967

Founded in 1967 by Cesare and Silvia Villari, in Solagna (VI), who are now joined by their two daughters Alessandra and Barbara and their son Leone, the company continues to reinvent porcelain, with skill and creative audacity, giving life to collections ranging from a more classic taste to the most recent projects born from the union of craftsmanship and contemporary design that are also open to experimentation with different materials and product types.

Exported all over the world, Villari's collections, which include decorative objects, lamps, tableware, home and bathroom accessories as well as furnishing accessories, are easily recognisable by their maniacal attention to detail and extreme refinement. The great artistic and technical skill that characterises each creation and the utmost attention to quality have thus enabled the company to create, over the years, precious artefacts that symbolise history and the high tradition of Italian craftsmanship.

Villari has more than 40 boutiques and shop-in-shop. The two most important boutiques are in the Dubai Mall and in Harrods, the max exponent of luxury lifestyle.

THE BRAND VALUES

HERITAGE & MASTERY

Rooted in generations of Italian artisanship, our brand celebrates the enduring legacy of porcelain craftsmanship.

INSPIRED CREATIVITY

We embrace artistic freedom and innovation, constantly evolving our designs while staying true to our identity.

EXCEPTIONAL MATERIALS

We use only the finest porcelain—crafted from premium kaolin clay—to ensure elegance, durability, and purity.

TIMELESS INDIVIDUALITY

We honor tradition while constantly reimagining our classics with bold innovation and timeless elegance.

LUXURY WITH PURPOSE

Our creations reflect a refined lifestyle where beauty, quality, and culture come together in meaningful harmony.

Harrods

Cesare Villari left school aged 14 to work in a porcelain factory, where he became fascinated by design, moulding and creation. But it wasn't until the arrival of a similarly young, ambitious girl that he found the courage not only to make her his wife, but to break away and start his own firm. That was in 1967. Today, with a staff of over 50, Villari is the pre-eminent exponent of Italian porcelain, much of it Capodimonte reproductions, embellished with 18kt gold, platinum and crystallised Swarovski elements, while the couple's three children all play an active part. Cesare and Silvia still mould the models and prototypes, with Cesare signing all the finished works as a guarantee of authenticity.

"Our story began as a love story when Silvia and I were both working in a porcelain factory and eventually got married in 1965. Now my daughters Alessandra and Barbara and my son Leone have joined the company. The new generation has launched successful new collections – I'm very proud of them.

"I tried to give them as soon as possible as many responsibilities as I could and I think this is key to our success. Trust too is a distinct competitive advantage. It gives us flexibility and enables our creative spirits to express themselves. We don't waste our time formalising ideas we just realise them. My son Leone is head of production, and a great sculptor. My daughters Barbara and Alessandra are co-managing directors. And my son-in-law Jean-Sébastien is our commercial director. Fundamentally though we consider every person who works in our company from the artists to the sculptors to those selling and marketing the products as members of the Villari family. That way we ensure all our creative passion production values are shared throughout workforce turn these values are expressed each every item produced."

“Record a New York. Una porcellana da 12 miliardi”

ARTE magazine, 2001

Cesare and Silvia Villari have been commissioned in 1998 to realized a statue of the “Michael Jackson and Bubbles” by the artist Jeff Koons.

This Statue was a real challenge as the size is nearly the real size (106.7x179.1x83 cm.).

One of the piece is in San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (CA).

One of the four statue has been sold in 2001 by Sotheby’s for 6.5 millions dollars in 2001.

The picture on the right hand page has been taken during an exhibition at Chateau de Versailles in Autumn 2008.
