VILLA CÔTE D'AZUR

Cannes, FR

Villa Côte d'Azur: A jewel of design in the hills of Cannes exploring one of the latest interior design projects signed by Nembo Design Studio, in collaboration with Henge.

The design philosophy behind this residence, which enjoys a panoramic position with breathtaking views of the bay, pursued the goal of creating an authentic connection between indoor and outdoor spaces. Large, minimalist-framed windows ensure the view can be enjoyed year-round, removing any barrier and establishing a genuine connection with the outdoors.

The panoramic view of Cannes provides the property's most stunning scenery. The large windows and 5-meter-high ceiling allow for extraordinary brightness and convey a sense of exceptional volume, maintaining a feeling of spaciousness and expansive open spaces. The staircase features a glass parapet and steps made of "Briccola Wood", which are wooden poles from the Venetian lagoon that were traditionally used for navigation by sailors. This staircase was custom-made for the project and designed to allow natural light to flood the surrounding spaces with its transparency.

HORIZON PENTHOUSE

Frankfurt, DE

Perched above the skyline, this remarkable Frankfurt penthouse captures the essence of contemporary refinement through a seamless dialogue between architecture, light, and material. Designed by PurPur Interior Concepts, the Frankfurt-based interior design firm renowned for its meticulously balanced interiors, the project reflects their philosophy of uniting precision, emotion, and spatial harmony.

Every element—every finish, proportion, and glow—has been orchestrated to create an environment that feels both composed and alive. At the heart of the residence, envisioned as its luminous centerpiece, stands the Oneon kitchen island in Ice Onyx. Under PurPur's direction, this sculptural piece transcends functionality: the translucent stone, backlit to reveal its intricate veining, becomes a glowing focal point that anchors the open living space. Surrounding kitchen units finished in H-Pale Gold with recessed doors continue the studio's pursuit of refined restraint—where minimal gestures and immaculate craftsmanship speak louder than ornament.

A custom winery partition, another key intervention by PurPur, exemplifies their ability to merge utility with narrative design. Integrating a wine cellar and a backlit Ice Onyx backrest, it acts as both divider and centerpiece—softly illuminating the space and guiding the gaze through its layers. The subtle interplay between warm metallic tones, the gentle radiance of onyx, and the expansive city views creates an atmosphere that is at once grounded and ethereal. In collaboration with Henge, the project becomes a statement of shared values: timeless design, material honesty, and the pursuit of bespoke beauty.

LA SERENISSIMA

Venice, IT

Venice has a way of holding history in its breath. Tucked within a noble residence dating back to the 1600s, this project reveals what happens when contemporary design is allowed to live gracefully within the poetry of the past.

The space is a testament to layered beauty. Ornate ceilings, faded af-freschi, and the patina of centuries set the tone. Our pieces enter not as intrusions but as counterparts, quietly powerful forms that honour the heritage while asserting their own presence. In this dialogue between eras, the furniture doesn't compete. It resonates.

Here, modern craftsmanship meets time-worn splendour in a rare, fluid harmony. It is not about contrast. It is about coherence, the kind that only emerges when design knows where it comes from and dares to imagine where it can go.

HENGE CHALET

Cortina d'Ampezzo, IT

Cortina is a place where tradition meets innovation — a timeless symbol of Italian elegance and aspiration.

Since the early 1900s, it has embodied a lifestyle rich in possibility and charm. A winter retreat, a burst of color in the warmer months, and a breathtaking stage during the foliage season, Cortina is an open-air sanctuary. Through sport, cinema, art, and design, it has become an international icon that reflects the contemporary spirit of the Dolomites.

Chalet Henge is the private retreat of Paolo Tormena and Isabella Genovese — a space that seamlessly blends Henge's design ethos with the natural and cultural uniqueness of its setting.

Just beyond the vibrant heart of Cortina and its lively social scene, the chalet is nestled among fir trees, with sweeping views of the Tofane, Cinque Torri, and Cristallo mountain ranges.

Located within an exclusive private compound, the chalet is clad in larch wood reclaimed from historic local barns — the tabià — a material chosen for both the façade and interiors. Architect Isabella Genovese embraced this element, preserving the wood's authenticity and visual integrity throughout her intervention.

Bathed in the natural light of the Dolomites through expansive windows and glass openings, the chalet's layout is built around the themes of conviviality and comfort.

The thoughtful separation of day and night zones forms the heart of the project — a functional, welcoming retreat where design and landscape exist in quiet harmony.

PRANA MANSION

Asia

A project of rare vision and refined execution, The Mansion is a private residence where architecture and interior design converge to create an extraordinary living experience. The interior design, conceived by Isabella Genovese in collaboration with ARYS, finds its perfect counterpart in Henge's full-house intervention—an immersive project that redefines the boundaries between furniture, space, and bespoke design.

From the earliest brief, the client expressed a desire for tactile richness and architectural character, with brass and burnished brass setting the material tone. Henge responded with a curated ensemble of signature pieces and entirely custom-designed elements, conceived to integrate seamlessly into the home's unique architectural language. Among the most remarkable interventions is a five-metre-high pivot door, a bold sculptural feature that balances monumental scale with precise detailing. Throughout the villa, hidden doors and integrated storage solutions are elegantly embedded into architectural volumes, maintaining a clean aesthetic while maximizing functionality.

Custom furniture and architectural elements have been developed not only to fulfil the client's requirements but to enhance the soul of the space, celebrating contrasts, materials, and the quiet power of design.

To the left, the mirrored elements are part of a custom configuration of our Loom System, elegantly adapted for storage use. This intelligent integration not only enhances functionality but elevates the visual language of the space with reflective depth and compositional balance.

Spanning 6 meters in length and 3 meters in height, this custom wall installation by Henge defines the atmosphere of the master bedroom with quiet intensity and sculptural presence. Clad in Ice Onyx marble and framed with slim burnished brass profiles, the surface reveals the natural depth and tonal richness of the stone, elevated by an integrated backlighting system.

Fully dimmable, the light behind the marble allows for complete control of the mood, shifting from soft ambient tones to more dramatic highlights depending on the moment. Designed and engineered entirely by Henge, this wall is a clear expression of our approach to architectural integration, where material, proportion, and atmosphere come together in a solution tailored precisely to the space.

Custom TV Wall Master Bedroom

Designed specifically for the master bathroom, this custom-made double sink unit showcases Henge's ability to elevate functional elements into fully architectural features. Crafted in marble with a burnished brass base, the piece integrates discreetly into the surrounding space while anchoring it with material strength and elegance.

Above, a tailored metal structure in Burnished Brass supports two vertical mirrors, each framed by integrated lighting that provides both clarity and warmth.

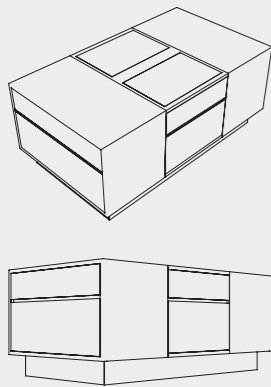

In this image, Henge's Edge Mirror, typically conceived as a decorative wall piece, has been reinterpreted and custom-engineered as a pivot door, demonstrating the brand's deep flexibility in adapting design icons to architectural needs.

Framed in burnished brass, the mirror retains its signature diagonal cuts and polished surfaces, offering both visual intrigue and functional clarity. Here, it becomes a concealed passage to the master bedroom dressing cabinet, merging seamlessly with the surrounding layout while adding a refined reflective element to the space.

At the center of the walk-in closet, this custom island unit serves as both a functional core and a sculptural anchor for the space. Crafted entirely in burnished brass, the piece exudes a warm, tactile richness that contrasts beautifully with the surrounding materials.

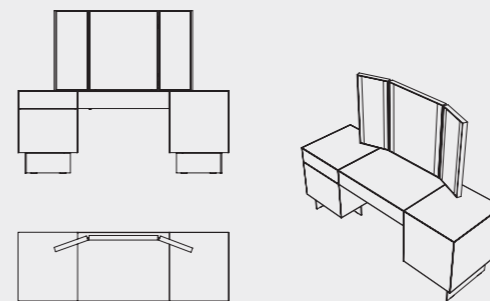

Thoughtfully designed for everyday use, the island offers multiple storage solutions, including two upper drawers with transparent glass tops, allowing curated visibility of accessories such as watches, ties, fragrances, and jewelry. Below, additional compartments provide versatile organization for other personal items.

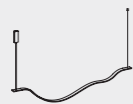

This custom vanity is a quiet celebration of personal ritual, bringing elegance and intention into the walk-in wardrobe. Built entirely in burnished brass, its geometric form anchors the space with understated strength, while offering thoughtful functionality through multiple drawers and compartments.

At the center, a trifold mirror with integrated vertical lighting ensures optimal visibility and atmosphere. Every element, from the proportions to the choice of materials, has been tailored to support daily gestures with grace and simplicity.

The result is a fully immersive environment where storage, surfaces, and atmosphere converge into a unified, made-to-measure solution.

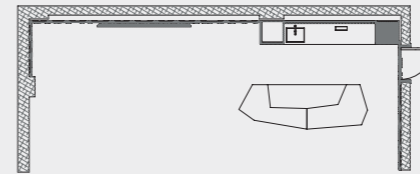

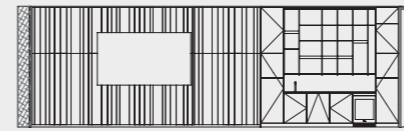

This private entertainment room was entirely developed by Henge, showcasing a complete architectural solution tailored to the client's vision of a space dedicated to cinema, games, and social moments. From the burnished brass ceiling to the Ice Onyx bar counter, every element has been crafted with precision and intention.

The architectural system includes a series of tall storage units behind the bar, fully clad in backlit Ice Onyx, forming a dramatic and luminous backdrop that enhances the depth and atmosphere of the space.
