Genesis

Genesis, floating knit.

design Gianluca Regazzo

Gianluca Regazzo has woven his vision, inspired by the language of fashion, into the creation of a fabric suspended in mid-air, blending elegance and creativity into an ethereal and timeless form. Genesis combines textile art and illumination, bringing to life a work that emerges from a slender thread of knitted steel. Its organic essence transforms into a visual jewel, capable of refracting light in a delicate balance between lightness and harmony, enchanting those who behold it. The transparency of the fabric seems to merge with its surroundings, as if breathing in the space. Its fluid and intricate weave tells a story of textures that dance ceaselessly between imagination and reality. Genesis is a primordial act, the birth of new life shaped by thread, a creation that reveals itself in constant motion. Like an ancient tale taking form, it transforms the fabric into an endless narrative, where each weave and thread gives rise to a new shape. It is a living work, evolving and changing, evoking a flow of ethereal forms in which light merges with matter. Genesis dissolves the boundaries between the tangible and the imaginary, between design and art, celebrating the birth of a new existence. Design Gianluca Regazzo. Made in Italy.
