YŌKAI - TENGU

For centuries, forests, mountains, and the most unexpected corners of Japan have been said to harbor creatures that defy all logic. Known as yōkai, these supernatural beings can take on the most extraordinary forms.

Central to legends and folklore, yōkai embody the mysteries of the world and reflect the intuitive and symbolic side of Japanese popular culture. Some provoke, others protect, and all spark the imagination. Attributing magical powers, whimsical humor, or ancient wisdom to them is part of a tradition that remains very much alive.

One of the best-known yōkai is Tengu, a mountain spirit with avian features, famous for its prominent nose and defiant temper. This interpretation in matte porcelain reimagines the legendary Tengu through a contemporary lens, emphasizing refined forms with a strong visual impact. The use of solid colors such as pistachio green, white, and black enhances this clean aesthetic and creates a vibrant contrast.

The hand-carved wings recall the original character, adding texture, volume, and dynamism. The glazed finish on the face and horns introduces a play of light that heightens the expressiveness of the piece.

Through lines, colors, and form, this particular Tengu offers a contemporary vision of an ancient and fascinating universe. A creation that bridges past and present through the language of design.

THE GUEST

by Díaz-Faes

The Guest keeps expanding through a collaboration brimming with energy, irony, and a distinctly personal touch. Artist, muralist, and illustrator Juan Díaz-Faes joins the creative universe of this iconic character with two versions decorated using his signature visual language, playful, friendly, and immediately recognizable.

Known for his black and white patterns, Díaz-Faes transforms The Guest's silhouette into a three-dimensional support for his unmistakable imagery. Through geometric shapes, flowing lines and looping faces, the artist from Oviedo creates a hypnotic engaging visual effect. Each line seems to move across the surface, as if the character were wrapped in a dynamic and vibrant skin.

Available in two versions, the limited edition of 300 units features a complex network, all hand-drawn and hand-painted, that fully covers the character's silhouette. The small version distills the essence of the artist into a more refined approach, where a glazed black background highlights the white patterns. Two ways to express the same graphic universe, different in scale but united by the unmistakable hand of Díaz-Faes.

This collaboration is part of The Guest project, which invites artists from around the world to reinterpret a single porcelain creation. The result is a series of editions full of personality, blending each artist's unique vision with the handcrafted expertise of our brand.

Juan Díaz-Faes
Point Éphémère, Paris

Born in Oviedo, northern Spain, Juan Díaz-Faes grew up drawing on paper and walls before going on to study Fine Arts at the University of Salamanca. He later pursued a doctorate, focusing on the creative process and exploring how ideas take shape and where they come from.

In 2011, he moved to Madrid, where he built a prolific creative career. His versatility has led him to explore a wide range of disciplines—from illustration and poster design to comics, mural painting, fine art, and digital media.

With a curious, honest, and lighthearted approach to art-making, and a visual style that's both approachable and engaging, Díaz-Faes brings to life cheerful characters and compositions through geometric forms, bold lines, and vibrant patterns. At the same time, his work invites close observation. Each piece carries layers of meaning and variation within every detail. Each stroke inhabits the surface—whether canvas, paper, aged fabric, cement, ceramics, wood, or digital media—unlocking new ways of perceiving. This dimension of his work reawakens our capacity to feel and perceive in a world that often numbs our senses.

THE GUEST CHOCOLATE

COSMIC

Since the earliest space missions, many women have broken boundaries and carved their path among the stars. Engineers, scientists, astronauts... real-life role models who inspire us to imagine new futures. Like Valentina Tereshkova, the first woman to travel into space; Mae Jemison, who combined a medical career with space exploration; or Sara García Alonso, the first Spanish astronaut selected by the European Space Agency.

Beyond their individual achievements, these pioneers share values that transcend disciplines and eras: insatiable curiosity, the determination to overcome barriers, and the courage to explore the unknown. Values that inspire not only those who dream of conquering space, but anyone who faces a challenge, no matter how big or small.

The Cosmic collection was born from this idea: trusting the journey we embark on and recognizing the importance of our fellow travelers, the ones who inspire and empower us to go further.

A young girl astronaut and her inseparable feline companion explore the universe alongside their rocket-shaped lamp. Together, they light up dreams that travel beyond the orbit and remind us that, in dreams as in space, there are no limits.

Because daring to look beyond can change everything.

Cosmic was created to express a way of facing life with curiosity, confidence, and courage, conveying this message through the expressive power of porcelain.

Each piece in the collection is hand-crafted in matte porcelain, with intricate engravings that trace the shapes like an imaginary map. The girl and her cat, inseparable on their journey, wear suits adorned with organic patterns reminiscent of waves, constellations, or galactic currents.

Their protective helmets are made of hand-blown glass, crafted by a local company in Valencia, Spain. The girl's and the cat's faces are painted with detail and subtle metallic luster accents that add a special glow.

The scene is completed with a wireless rocket-shaped lamp, also engraved by hand. Its soft light transforms any corner into the perfect place to dream of new beginnings.

Talking about Bob Marley means talking about music that crosses borders, about lyrics that inspire freedom, and about a voice that still resonates. Born in Jamaica, Marley brought reggae to audiences all over the world. This musical style, rooted in his homeland, blends slow rhythms with a powerful message. Through his songs, he championed a way of life grounded in peace and justice.

This portrait of the artist, handcrafted in matte black porcelain, is a limited edition of 250 pieces. It stands out for its realistic modeling and ornamental detail. The texture of the hat, precisely recreated, is decorated in the unmistakable colors of Rastafarian culture, a spiritual movement that shaped his thinking and his music. The shirt collar features silver luster accents, while the peace-symbol pendant reinforces the message he shared throughout his life.

With this creation as tribute, and with lyrics like his iconic "Everything's gonna be alright," we celebrate a legacy of hope with music as its flag.

The sculpture includes a base that completes the composition.

DORAEMON

 HANDMADE PORCELAIN
 SPAIN

We present in porcelain one of the most beloved characters in the world of manga and anime: Doraemon. The robot cat who has accompanied generations with his energy, tenderness, and the four-dimensional pocket full of secret gadgets.

A time traveler from the 22nd century, Doraemon journeys to the past to help Nobita Nobi, a sweet and scatter-brained boy, with the goal of improving his future. Since then, he has become a true cultural icon, starring in countless stories that blend friendship, imagination and futuristic technology.

In this porcelain version, we've captured him just as we know and love him: blue, round, expressive, always smiling and with a signature playful wink.

Each color on the piece has been carefully applied using vibrant, glazed enamels. From the deep blue of his body to the red and yellow of his details, the original palette is faithfully preserved, capturing the character's energy. The fully handcrafted modeling reflects the freshness of the animated series and Doraemon's contagious joy, now reimagined in porcelain.

More than just a character, he's a symbol of friendship, optimism, and the kind of help we've all needed at some point. And now, he's also for those who grew up with him... or are just now discovering his magic.

SUPERMAN THE MAN OF STEEL, NOW IN PORCELAIN

We've reimagined the ultimate superhero with a porcelain creation that captures the essence of the character: strength, integrity, and a quiet determination to make the world a better place. Inspired by the classic Superman from the original 1939 comics by Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster, we present him in his most iconic pose, wearing his unmistakable suit.

To recreate Superman's outfit, we developed a special shade of blue and metallic reds exclusively for this edition. The combination is elevated by matte and satin gold luster detailing on the emblem and belt. Superman stands on a mineral-textured base representing Krypton, his home planet, the source of his strength and, paradoxically, the origin of his greatest weakness: kryptonite. Every detail has been carefully crafted, from the character's anatomy and expression to the textures of the ground beneath his feet.

Known on Earth as Clark Kent, he balances his job as a reporter at the Daily Planet with a silent mission to protect the world with compassion and superhuman abilities.

Sculpted by Eva Cuerva and entirely handcrafted in our workshops in Valencia, this limited edition is part of our collection dedicated to contemporary cultural icons.

PANTHER

Origami Collection

The Origami collection expands with a new addition: a white porcelain panther with a glazed finish, decorated with black floral motifs. A piece that combines feline magnetism with the softness of decorative art. The signature faceted language of Origami, inspired by the Japanese art of paper folding, defines its silhouette with pure, angular lines. Black botanical illustrations are drawn across the panther's body, as if nature were reclaiming its place on the animal's skin.

Reproducing a creation like this in porcelain, with its many angles and straight lines, poses an added challenge during the firing process. The natural shrinkage that occurs as the piece passes through the kiln affects this type of composition, as even the slightest variation can distort the sharpness of a line or the clarity of an angle. Unlike organic shapes, geometric structures require an extra level of control to ensure balance and precision. These are creations that, beneath their apparent formal simplicity, push the boundaries of handcrafted porcelain.

DRAGON ORIGAMI collection

The dragon is one of the most powerful symbols in Eastern imagination. Associated with wisdom, good fortune, and protection, it adopts a new identity in this creation through a renewed aesthetic that blends tradition, design, and craftsmanship.

Inspired by the Japanese art of paper folding, this dragon is composed of faceted volumes that transform the classic lines of origami into a sculpture with strong visual energy. Its angular forms, dynamic posture, and the tension in its silhouette evoke power and movement.

The golden finish enhances the sculptural energy of the piece. To achieve this effect, we use natural mineral pigments coated with a fine layer of metallic oxide, intensifying the surface reflections while maintaining the purity of the color. The result is a striking creation with deep symbolic and decorative value.

Dragon is part of a limited series of 888 units, entirely handcrafted using traditional porcelain-making techniques with a contemporary approach. Every step in the process honors the artisanal essence that sets our creations apart.

This piece belongs to the Origami collection, a series of sculptures that reinterpret the animal world through geometric abstraction, with an aesthetic rooted in contemporary design.

2026 · YEAR OF THE HORSE

HORSE matte black

In this piece, we bring together two artistic languages: the ancient Japanese art of origami and the handcrafted tradition of porcelain. From that connection comes this matte black porcelain horse, modeled with faceted volumes that echo the language of folded paper. A contemporary reinterpretation of the animal world through geometry.

The horse, a universal symbol of freedom, strength, and elegance, takes on a new form here refined, bold and expressive. We aimed to capture its movement mid-stride, with one leg lifted and its head held high, conveying energy and balance. The matte black finish emphasizes the edges of its anatomy, enhancing the play of light and shadow across its surface.

Each piece is entirely handcrafted in our workshops in Valencia, where traditional porcelain-making techniques coexist with a focus on contemporary design. From the initial modeling to the kiln firing, this horse reflects our commitment to preserving artisanal expertise while exploring new creative directions.

Horse is part of the Origami collection, a series of creations that reinterpret the animal world through abstraction, with an aesthetic inspired by graphic design and today's visual languages.

The Horse (red-gold) is part of a collection that reinterprets the twelve animals of the Chinese zodiac through a more refined approach to form. This series seeks to capture the essence of an ancient tradition using a language that moves away from realism. From this premise emerge creations such as this horse head, defined by primary lines and a two-tone color scheme.

A symbol of energy and freedom, the horse is one of the most admired signs of the Chinese zodiac. This glazed porcelain creation, in vibrant red with hand-applied golden accents, conveys dynamism and vitality. The decoration, inspired by traditional Eastern floral motifs, enhances its symbolic nature and connects it to its cultural background.

Those born under the sign of the Horse (1954, 1966, 1978, 1990, 2002, 2014, 2026) are known for being independent, sociable, and energetic. Lovers of freedom and adventure, they stand out for their charisma, contagious enthusiasm, and positive spirit. Lord Ganesha is one of the most revered deities in Hinduism. He symbolizes wisdom, intelligence, and new beginnings. In this creation, we reinterpret his image through abstraction, applying a refined approach to both form and decoration. We establish a dialogue with tradition from a current perspective, connecting spirituality and design.

According to Hindu tradition, Ganesha is the son of the goddess Parvati and the god Shiva. Legend has it that Parvati created him from clay to protect her while Shiva was away. When Shiva returned and found Ganesha blocking his way—unaware of who he was—he beheaded him in a fit of rage. Upon learning the truth, he brought him back to life by replacing his head with that of an elephant.

From that moment on, Ganesha was recognized by the gods as a special divinity, and Shiva granted him the honor of being invoked at the beginning of any ritual, journey, or new endeavor.

His appearance, with a large head symbolizing wisdom, a trunk that adapts to any situation and a calm body, represents the ability to overcome challenges with intelligence, patience, and balance. The use of matte white porcelain and the application of golden luster reflect the attributes of the deity and reinforce his symbolic character.

Lord Ganesha - Eternal Light goes beyond religion. It is a decorative piece that invites us to connect with spirituality and the beauty of its forms.

When the holiday season arrives, everything takes on a different glow. Spaces fill with warm lights, shared moments, and little details that feel extra special. Firefly - Magic Holidays was created to light up those moments with a design that captures the spirit of the season.
